When Charles M. Schwab, who i directing the construction of ships in this country, declared at a New York meeting this week that the full programme for whip construction is to be carried out, it is in complete accord with what has been previously set forth and what it must be recognized is needed by the country in order to sive it such a merchant marine as i Up to the present time there have been constructed 207 ships of a total dend-weight tonnage of 3,500,000. During the past month there was put into service a tonnage of over 400,000 with the figures that the imit of production under the present organization. He figures that a half million tons can be built and for a long period.

No little relief to the civilian population but is described and honored it: but like many mistaken mertals she never of it. Some people make a bug bear of conscience instead of an example of their conduct; and make the worst of their conduct; and make the worst of their conduct; and make the worst of their conduct. Some people make a bug bear of conscience instead of an example of their conduction. They are thought to be descendants of the inverse of it. Some people make a bug bear a haif million tons can be built and he is optimistic enough to think that it will be done this month. This would be touching the maximum prosuction that was looked for in order to meet the war requirements.

Now that the war has been stopped is probable that it will not be long before there may be some curtailment in connection with the large expenses for extras and overtime work. This may mean some slowing up in the output and may extend the time in which the total programme will be carried out but it cannot and must not mean any interference with the plan sels which are needed by it to take care of its overseas traffic during Instead of building for needs we are as Mr. Schwah says "going to build for economic permanency," and it must be realized that that duty cannot be slighted. The demand for ships, ships and more ships still holds good.
